

Corporate Social Responsibility Policy

Vanguard Energy Limited is aware that through the product it produces and the associated activities it conducts it helps generate economic development and social progress in the communities within which it works. Vanguard recognises that there are social responsibilities associated with conducting its business and will firstly identify these responsibilities then take appropriate action to fulfil them.

Vanguard's activities in relation to corporate social responsibility will be an integral part of its business processes and decision making will include social, reputational and environmental considerations, as well as economic ones. Vanguard further recognises that its endeavours in the corporate social responsibility arena will require measurable resource inputs and that the resultant outputs are more likely to be measured in reputation, relationships and future business sustainability rather than financial indicators.
